Pres. Roosevelt Steering Into Uncharted Seas

New York Daily Mirror

They simply did not believe that he could mean what he said.

Those who today are expressing emotions ranging from incredulity to terror as President Roosevelt moves to put the Government in control of industry, are the same who, during the campaign, were ridiculing the things he was saying, calling him a demagogue and a mountebank. They are much fewer in number than they were before the November landslide, and steadily growing fewer.

How they guffawed when Roosevelt made his historic "cannon fodder" speech at the Chicago late in August of last year, "I, too, believe in individualism," he said, "but I mean it in everything the word implies." "I believe," he went on, "that our industrial and economic system is made for individual men and women, and not individual men and women for the benefit of the system. I believe that the individual should have full liberty of action to make his most of himself; but I do not believe that in the name of that sacred word a few powerful interests should be permitted to make industrialism a monopoly of the lives of half the population of the United States."

It was a fighting speech in every line. Toward its close the plain warning especially drew other times and places, its warning that drew so many jobs: "I believe that the Government, without becoming a prying bureaucracy, can act as a check or counterbalance to this oligarchy so as to secure the chance to work and the safety of savings to men and women, rather than safety of exploitation to the financial manipulator, safety of unlikeness power to those who would speculate to the bitter end with the welfare and property of other people."

There is no scoffing now. Those who still would cling to the old order are horrified at the imminence of accomplishment to match words. Powerful industrial and financial interests which bitterly opposed the Roosevelt candidacy are to be found today conferring with him, openly giving him their support in working out the details of the greatest adventure in American history.

Franklin Roosevelt is piloting the Ship of State into uncharted waters. Carefully, cautiously, little by little, he draws nearer to the new prosperity, the vision of which was the inspiration of his candidacy and steadily remains the inspiration of his Presidency.

Not only his fellow-citizens for whom he fights so valiantly, but people the world over, are beginning to see the bold outlines of the national prosperity he is steering for.

Today the boundless riches of the nation shall be developed without waste, and enjoyed in their fullness by Americans in every walk of life. The Secretary of Labor, Frances Perkins, sponsors legislation to give the Government permanent control of production, distribution, wages and hours of work throughout the entire industrial system.

It is as though the Government, which belongs to all, is about to be declared by common consent the lord of the manor. It is to direct the work of men's hands and brains, guard workers everywhere against injustice and exploitation, secure for them a fair share of the wealth that comes from their labor, whether they be captains of industry or tillers of the ground, taking only for itself such return as will enable it to maintain itself in full health and efficiency.

Will Roosevelt be able to carry the nation into the new era on which his eyes are fixed? No living person can answer that. There are rocks ahead and shoals ahead, no doubt.

Honestly, however, wisdom and daring will be needed for the voyage. Roosevelt has shown he has them all. And hope and confidence besides.

He is the Columbus of the machine age.

Daughter-Mother Banquet

"Ships" was the unique theme chosen for the decorations and addresses of the annual Mother and Daughter Banquet sponsored by the four local C.G.L.T. Groups, and held Saturday evening. Like new untied ships are the girls setting forth on the highway of life's sea, said Grace Vickers in presenting a tribute to the Mothers, and Mrs. J. Gilmour, replying to her, the Mothers carried the theme still further in likening the health of the girls to strong, sound timbers used by the builders, the religious life to the engine power upon which the ship depends to carry it safely over the sea, and the social life to the varnishing and finished smoothness which makes of the ship an object of beauty.

Rev. R. B. Layton speaking for the Church, represented this as being the Flagship of the Fleet and stressed its extreme importance. Dorothy Sweet spoke of the Girl's activities in Mission Work; Patsy Hay of the Finance Campaign; Margaret Watt took her listeners on a project cruise, showing the work done by each group; Margaret and Kathleen Orsigen, while Dorothy Sweet played "Follow the Gleaner." Jeanie Hay officiated as Mistress of ceremonies.

Blackfalds News

The Cheviot cow, 'Blackfalds Perfection, 1st' No. 3389, has recently presented her owner, Robert P. Fahrbech with two lusty little lambs, which will be registered in Ottawa in the name of Contubula and Astubula. Their sire is Chapter 47, No. 3195, bred by Robert G. Charter, Blackwater, Ontario, and was a selection made by Mr. Fahrbech from six outstanding good rams owned by the University of Saskatchewan and which had been selected by J. W. G. MacEwan, Professor of Animal Husbandry from the leading Cheviot flocks of the Dominion. Blackfalds Perfection the first, was born at Blackfalds, Alberta, March 26, 1931 and her dam is Rae Brothers' 3rd, No. 2959; bred by Rae Brothers, Hampton, Ont. Blackfalds Perfection the first's sire is Cock Robin, No. 2945-(4659) this ram was imported in June 1930 by Alfred Ayre, Hampton, Ont., and was considered by the leading Cheviot breeders of Scotland to be the best Cheviot ram that ever came to this side of the Atlantic and he won with ease the Grand Championship of his breed at the Toronto Royal and National shows and also at the Chicago International and while on exhibition there he drew the attention of and was bought for a handsome sum by the multimillionaire J. B. Cummings, of South Burwick, Maine, U.S.A.

It is as though the Government, which belongs to all, is about to be declared by common consent the lord of the manor. It is to direct the work of men's hands and brains, guard workers everywhere against injustice and exploitation, secure for them a fair share of the wealth that comes from their labor, whether they be captains of industry or tillers of the ground, taking only for itself such return as will enable it to maintain itself in full health and efficiency.

Old Order Changes

The domestic situation in the U.S.A. may develop into a circumstance of very profound importance to Canada because far-reaching moves in that country are usually felt in our own. The move to cloak Miss Perkins (U.S. Secretary of Labor) with the mantle of virtual dictator over American business has many and extraordinary possibilities. In this Land of Liberty, which has ever been the stronghold and champion of a sturdy individualism, to become the fortress of an unexampled state socialism. The possibility very definitely exists if proposed legislation happens to be adopted. On the other hand, some observers look upon Miss Perkins' powers as temporary in order to provide the storm of crisis. Possible developments are, of course, most intriguing to think about, but we are wiser to regard them as they arise, to wait and see what happens when it does. We consider that it is hazardous to discount the future at the present time, because no trends of a clear and definite nature are as yet plainly apparent.

We would remark, however, that the state control of business has arrived, to a greater or lesser degree, depending on circumstances, in most of the countries of Europe, in New Zealand, in Australia and now in the U.S.A. In each instance a financial crisis brought about through various causes, among which unbalanced budgets and frozen credits were common to all preceded the subsequent assumption of economic authority by the state. So far Canada has not suffered a financial crisis, and one hopes that such an unhappy circumstance will not come to pass. At the same time, however, it should be appreciated that our government and banks in co-operation have exercised discrimination in forestalling calamity, probably to a greater extent than many people realize. We strongly suggest that the country should continue to support their efforts, and in a more manifest manner, because our authorities have played their cards remarkably well under the circumstances which have prevailed, and these circumstances seem likely to continue for some months to come.

This, meanwhile, seems to be the question of the hour: "Is the world really moving toward an era of state-controlled capitalism, are the nations to repudiate the doctrine of democracy in which the individual is allowed a measure of freedom and self-determination, are governments henceforth to dictate business policy, or will business men remain to guide and to increase the economic enterprises of the nations?" It is almost inconceivable to believe the former will be the case, while it is beyond any doubt the latter policy alone can guarantee the widest measure of all-round well-being.

Everyone should celebrate 24th of May, and there is no better way for you to mark the real day of it than by attending the big celebration and sporting event at Clive. Plans are now under way to make this day one to be remembered by everyone. It will be the biggest sports event ever to be held in Clive, and one of the biggest organized events in the entire province. It will be a day of sport—ball tournament, boxing tournament, and a monster dance. The ball teams who will play in the tournament have not been announced but baseball fans can rest assured that there will be some fast teams on the field. Such well known fighters as Patsy O'Brien, Pete Holm, Don Wells, George Davies will be drawn against equally well known fighters, whose names will be announced through these columns next week. The fighters meet and have fought in Lacombe in the last tournament and won their matches, so are well known and are real fighters. The fight, which will take place in the evening will be followed by a big dance, at which Bob Paulsen and his newly organized dance band will play. This six piece band is rapidly becoming popular and has drawn large crowds wherever it has played. These boys play the very latest numbers in the most modern way, and all dancers are assured of a real time.

Jim Toller and Harry Murray, who are promoters of this huge event, promise everyone, young and old, the time of their lives at Clive on the 24th of May.

Women's Institute Holds Session

As a result of some co-operation with the Red Deer Health Unit, a resolution was passed at a meeting of the W.I. held at the home of Mrs. W. Tupper on Saturday, May 11, to institute a Health booklet in the local library. The first books to be ordered are "The Nervous Child", by H. C. Cameron; "The Normal Child", by Allan Brown, M.D.; "Growing Up", by Karl de Schweinitz; "Men, Women and God", by Rev. A. Herbert Gray, and the Parents Magazine.

A suggestion to sponsor a week's holiday at Gull Lake for tired Mothers was received with enthusiasm and a committee comprised of Mrs. J. Sherrer and the W.I. Directors was appointed to investigate ways and means.

Mrs. Hugh Reed presented a splendid paper on "Canadianization" and Mrs. R. Hoppus read a paper on "Rigid Economy," the resultant discussion stressing the fact that better personal relations with God on the part of individuals is the real solution of all problems. In the interests of economy it was felt unwise to send a delegate to the Provincial Convention to be held in Calgary, May 16 to 19, and a resolution was passed that Camp Secretary at Lacombe for 25 years.

C. E. Cosgrove, Calgary, was elected provincial consul, and P. F. Switzer, Calgary was re-elected provincial clerk.

A. E. Whiteson, provincial deputy consul, reported that since two years ago, when the present reorganization work was started, $931,000 of new insurance was written in the province and eight new camps formed. Sessions were brought to a close by a banquet Thursday evening. Speakers on the toast list included E. G. McLean, Balzac; Percy Tupper, Bentley; D. A. Morrow, Ponoka; Mr. H. L. Barritt, Mirror, and elected officers.

Roosevelt Asks War Debt Power

Washington, May 9.—The Roosevelt administration faces its first real showdown on the war debt issue since it came into power.

The president is considering asking the United States Congress for full authority to deal with the problem as he sees fit so as to achieve his aim of international prosperity. But how far he will go remains to be seen.

The administration and Congress regards debt as obligations as definite as the proposed conscription agreements by the United States to satisfy European demands for security. Yet since the debt question has been injected into the international conversations, the president, in the face of expressed congressional objections, seems bent on meeting the challenge in some way, and answer bargain with bargain, if necessary.

The French cabinet voted yesterday against paying its defaulted December payment without assurance that the forthcoming June payment would be postponed.

Whether the president will send any debt proposal to Congress, is problematical, but in any event it seems unlikely that he will make promises for a postponement of June 15 payment. The action of Congress apparently has tended to solidify congressional opposition to such pledges.

Mr. Roosevelt and his aides planned to continue today the round of conversations with visiting dignitaries from Germany and China, striving to ensure a successful conclusion to the London conference which has a revival of world trade as its goal.

C. E. Cosgrove, Calgary, was elected provincial consul, and P. F. Switzer, Calgary was re-elected provincial clerk.

Young America and Dominion

Example of American ignorance with regard to this country are always being cited in Canadian newspapers. But it has been felt that the people in the south of the line have in recent years acquired a wider and more accurate knowledge of conditions here. Though this is in all likelihood true, an experiment conducted by a Montreal educator, Dr. Arthur Hauck, shows that the process needs to be carried much further. He sent a questionnaire over to a thousand high school students in all parts of the United States in order to find out how well informed they were with respect to the dominion and its people. The results were on the whole disconcerting.

Mr. King headed the list in the answers to the question "What do you consider to be the leading living Canadian?" while Mr. Bennett was quite a distance behind in second place. But the choice of twelve of his students was Ramsay MacDonald. He was a close runner-up to Percy Williams, the sprinter, and Eddie Shore, the hockey player. The answers to the questions about the country's size, population, system of government and others of this nature are said to show that very few had any idea of what they were talking about. Among the general impressions reported were these: "Most Canadians trap for a living"; "There are rivers, forests, mountains, etc., interspersed here and there with an inhabitant"; "Most of the people live in old villages and are not working"; "The Indians make up a large part of the population."

A similar questionnaire was sent to Canadian students. As was to be expected, the answers showed the test very much better than did the Americans. Dr. Hauck concludes from the answers that he received that they indicated "the necessity of a fund of essential information as the basis for teaching international friendship."

He would have the schools undertake this on a larger scale. But quite apart from the desirability of better relations between the two countries, it is appalling to learn that boys and girls who have reached the secondary educational stage know so little about their neighbor nation as is revealed by the American replies.

"FIRST YEAR" The trials and joys, the blise and kisses of "The First Year," that most trying adjustment period of young love, constitute the dramatic motivation of Janet Gaynor's and Charles Farrell's latest Fox picture, which shows at the Avalon this week.

"The First Year" promises a new Janet. Petite and piquant as ever, she has foreworn the pathetic for the positive in her characterization. With a new hair dress, with smart modern frocks, she is said to bring an entirely fresh and inspiring portrayal to the screen in this, her first entirely grown-up role. Farrell, too, is different. He will be seen as an ambitious young business man, harassed, it is true, by the difficulties of becoming established in a strange town, but on the whole a capable, energetic young man out to prove that he can make his way in the world.

Among the supporting players of "The First Year" are Minna Gombell, seen in a hilarious comedy role, Len Bennett, Dudley Digges, Robert McEwan, George Meeker, Maude Eburne and Henry Kolker, all of whom portray important parts suited to their capabilities.

Comedy: Slim Somerville in "Meet the Princess." The Coming: "The Love in 'The Drive'." May 18, 19, and 20.

Zane Grey's "Wild Horse Mesa," May 25, 26 and 27. Show starts Thursday and Friday at 8:30. Saturday 7:30 and 9:10.

Unfailing Signs Point to Better Business Conditions

Chicago, May 8.—The mercury in America's business barometer on Sunday was pointed upward under the impetus of favorable news from coast to coast.

The factory whistles playing a tune of good times, the railroads finding business where none had been for months, farm prices swelling and employment increasing, there were predictions from everywhere that "we're on the way." Some of the increase was seasonal, but far from all of it.

From the great steel centres of Youngstown, Buffalo, Pittsburgh, Gary, and Cleveland, there were reports of increased operations, orders piling up. The mills were turning out three times as much steel as a few months ago. The reason: demand for finished steel at newly hatched factories.

Railroad carloadings, another red-hot business indicator, took the sharpest jump of the year during the week of April 29, the American Railway association reported. To haul the increased freight, made by "over and increased output," the railroads needed 41,736 more cars than were used in the previous week—a total of 536,676.

For the farmer, the close of Saturday's markets found wheat at virtually 30 cents from a few weeks ago with dollar wheat talked of on the board of trade, and other grains moving along in sympathy.

Business leaders in several instances, announced their employees would share in any new prosperity. Employers announcing salary boosts of from 70 per cent. to "back to normal" were the American store Equipment corporation of Detroit and New York, Jacobson and sons and the Simplicity Pattern Company, of New York.

Seeks to Annul Divorce Decree

Action to have the divorce decree granted O. L. McPherson, April 22, 1931 set aside, was commenced in supreme court, Edmonton on Monday, by Mrs. Coral L. McPherson. Plaintiff charges that the decree was won through collusion and conspiracy. The case is being heard by Mr. Justice Ford.

Several amendments to the statement of claim originally filed by the plaintiff were granted by Mr. Justice Ford on application of Neil D. MacLean, K.C., and George H. Van Allen, K.C., counsel for Mrs. McPherson. All except the one dealing with compassionate relief, were granted by the court.

The court ruled that this question be left over until the present action had been completed.

Sydney B. Woods, K.C., and S. W. Field, K.C., appearing for the defendant, Hon. O. L. McPherson.

The Mosquito

A few more rains and a week or two hot weather and the mosquito will again be our insistent companion. Canadians may find some slight compensation, as they swat another, in the knowledge that no country in the world is so infested with this pest as is Canada. None other than Arthur Gibson, entomologist of the dominion government, is authority for his statement. Just recently Mr. Gibson went down to New Jersey, which rather brags of the size and ferocity of its mosquitoes—"they sit on trees and bark and a lot of them weigh a ton"—and tried to put out the eye of the Jersey by bragging about the number of mosquitoes found in the state. Just recently Mr. Gibson went down to New Jersey, which rather brags of the size and ferocity of its mosquitoes—"they sit on trees and bark and a lot of them weigh a ton"—and tried to put out the eye of the Jersey by bragging about the number of mosquitoes found in the state. So the next time you come down hard on the calf of your leg and spatter a mosquito all over the place, just say with the proper emphasis: "Bigger and more of 'em than anywhere else in the world." The thought is guaranteed to soothe even if it fails to reduce the swelling.

Why Canada's Trade Declines.

Official figures of the trade of Canada for the fiscal year which ended on March 31, 1933, recently issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics at Ottawa, are of interest these days to a far larger group of citizens than those who usually make a study of statistical information as a guide to the trend of national and international affairs. Since the stock market crash of October, 1929, and the steady fall in prices of all primary commodities the world over, with all the concomitant evils of depreciated money values and violently fluctuating exchange rates, the farmer, laborer, store clerk, has taken an increasing interest in economics and eagerly reads all information on the subject available to him. The average man and woman has been undergoing a real education in the fundamentals which underlie national and international business relationships, and they have come to appreciate the fact that these things very intimately affect themselves and their families.

For this reason the figures referred to are of more than passing or mere statistical interest, because, in concrete form, they reveal just why it is that business of all kinds throughout Canada is so sadly depressed today, with unemployment general, and governmental relief services necessary for the maintenance of thousands of families.

The year preceding the crash of prices in October, 1929, was the biggest trade year Canada ever experienced. The official figures of imports and exports tell the story, just as the same statistics for the succeeding years down to the present time tell what has since taken place. For the information of readers of this column the figures for the past five years are here given, from the highest in the history of the Dominion in 1929 to the lowest since 1915, the year in which the Great War broke.

Fiscal Year ended March 31	Imports	Exports	Total
1929	$1,285,979,091	$1,388,896,075	$2,654,475,166
1930	1,248,273,582	1,144,938,070	2,393,211,652
1931	906,613,686	817,028,043	1,723,641,729
1932	578,517,744	587,565,517	1,166,083,261
1933	406,213,972	480,821,297	887,035,269

These comparative figures disclose the fact that Canada's trade is now only one-third what it was five years ago. It is because of that fact that all business is depressed, no new enterprises are under way, tens of thousands are unemployed, railway equipment is largely idle and the companies in financial difficulties, government revenues are shot to pieces, and public debts and taxation of the people steadily increasing.

The loss in the total volume of trade is, of course, not quite as large as these dollar values of trade indicate because the value of all commodities is less today than in 1929; nevertheless the decline is startling. Furthermore, this decline in our international trade, import and export, is reflected immediately, and in practically the same proportion, in our internal trade between provinces and communities. The total falling off in trade is, therefore, enormous.

What occasioned this tremendous loss? Scores and hundreds of reasons are advanced, and most of them may be contributory or subsidiary causes. Many say the chief responsibility lies in the competitive capitalist system, and in the prevailing monetary and banking systems. But it was under these same systems that the trade of Canada and the world was carried on prior to and during 1929 and brought to the peak indicated by the figures given above. The monetary system worked while the trade of the country was moving and increasing, but when trade was checked and gradually killed off, there was not the same demand for credits, and credits began to dry up because that security which lies back of all credit was fast disappearing. Let trade be revived and prices will again rise, credits be called for and be forthcoming, because security resulting from increased and profitable trade would again be in evidence.

The question then is: What has so largely destroyed the trade of the world, Canada included? Despite the many, and often conflicting reasons advanced, the true answer is not far to seek.

The Great War destroyed millions of lives, maimed more millions who became pensioners of the state, destroyed tens of billions of property, imposed billions of debt upon the nations, upon which hundreds of millions in interest charges have to be paid annually. Not only these things, but the war left an even more disastrous trail of bitter feelings, suspicions, and narrow nationalist views in its wake. The nations of Europe still fear each other, perhaps more so than ever, and continue armed to the teeth. But the war has taught them one lesson, and that is that food supplies for their populations are just as important, — more so, in fact, — than arms and munitions. Nations surrounded by enemies became convinced that they must become more self-contained if they are to survive in any future war.

So France turned its magnificent and highly profitable vineyards into less profitable but more essential wheat fields; Germany abandoned less essential forms of production to grow wheat; Italy did the same thing, giving large State bonuses; Russia embarked on its ambitious five-year plan; other smaller nations followed the same course. To encourage these programmes these nations imposed terrifically high tariffs, prohibitory tariffs, against other countries. Instead of importing wheat, which they could have done much more cheaply and in every way more economically than growing it themselves, they stopped doing so. Producing largely for themselves, they had less of other things to export, and because other countries, Canada included had lost their markets in Europe in which to sell their surplus products, they had no money wherewith to buy in those markets.

Every nation set out to become self-contained, and they did so because of fear of future war. All Europe is living in dread anticipation of war. Every policy is studied and decided upon in the light of future war. They are all getting ready for it. And one of the most important items in defence is to be able to supply all the needs of their populations if and when foreign countries are shut off.

Therefore, because every export by one country is an import by some other country, and every import by one country is an export by another, and with all determined to reduce imports to the vanishing point the inevitable automatic effect is to reduce exports to the same point. Thus is the trade of the world being destroyed.

That is the answer to the seeming riddle of the depression. It is not the existing economic system, including monetary systems, that is at fault. It is "Fear"—fear of war. Until that fear is removed and confidence re-established, there can be no restoration of national or international credit; trade will continue to languish and grow less and less; the world depression will continue.

It is "Fear"—lack of confidence,—that is destroying all credit and all trade.

Causes Of Illness

London Doctor Recognized and Prescribed For Only Three

There is supposed to be only a limited number of plots for novels or plays, a limited number of conjuring tricks and a limited number of jokes, but these are sub-divided again and again so that the variations appear as if the number of plots, illusions, and jokes were unlimited. Now, some medical authority has given out that there are really only six causes of illness—injury, malformation, defective diet, poisoning, infection, and "neoplasms" which comprise malignant growths. These, of course, can be split into numerous ailments.

The medical profession may classify only six causes of disease, but there was in the east end of London not long before the World War a doctor who had only three prescriptions for all patients. He was known as the "Three-penny Doctor," because he had a flat rate charge of three pence (six cents) for everybody. Being in a poor neighborhood he had a long queue outside his office every evening. He operated on the principle that a patient either had something wrong with his head, chest or stomach, and according to where the seat of the complaint was he handed out a bottle of medicine for either the head, chest or stomach. He got his three pence before giving the medicine and made more money than many of the doctors in the west end. —St. Thomas Times-Journal.

Will Shoulder Burden

Canadians Paying Heavy Taxes But Will Not Tolerate Extravagance

Jack Canuck for years has marvelled at the equanimity of John Bull in crises, and particularly his sang-froid in accepting heavy national taxes. The old gentleman has invariably shrugged his shoulders, smiled, tightened his belt and turned to the work in hand, tackling the most immediate problem with a nonchalance that was amazing to others.

Now Jack Canuck is getting a taste in a tax way of what to John Bull has become common. In other words Canadians have come to realize that those who are earning and spending must be prepared to pay more into the coffers of the country to improve its financial position.

The Rhodes budget is heavy. It hurts. But when one is hurt he is apt to take a deeper interest in the reason for that condition. Hence Canadians will in the future scan governmental expenditures with a keener eye. They are willing to pay, willing to meet their just obligations, and will shoulder tax burdens like John Bull for the common good, but they will not tolerate extravagance or political wire pulling where public funds are directly or indirectly involved. —Kitchener Record.

Cattle Shipments Active

Fair Demand In Britain For Choice Canadian Cattle

There's a fair quantity of this day's meat, as it is regarded as the "roast beef of Old England" being served to the British people in their own country but which a short time before was prime young steer in Canada. The shipments of live cattle from the Dominion to the British market are particularly active this year. From January 1 to March 23, 1933, a total of 7,863 head were exported from Canada to British ports, an increase of 7,454 compared with the corresponding period in 1932. With the opening of navigation on the St. Lawrence it is expected there will be heavy shipments from Montreal to all large orders already received from buyers in Britain.

Secret Rediscovered

Dr. Ferruccio Zanier, of Trieste, Italy, claims to have rediscovered the process used by early violin makers who were able to produce the deadening and sweetening effect of stringed instruments. He says that a resin obtained from plants that grow only in Persia furnished the base of the secret varnish used by Italy's classic violin makers.

Delayed Taking Out Patent

Inventor Of Moving Picture Camera Lost Millions and Died Penniless

A recent report from the Surrogate office showed that Jean A. Le Roy, inventor, of the motion picture projection machine, died penniless. The millions of patents that were rightfully but not legally his, went to others because he neglected to patent his invention soon enough.

An ironical feature is that Le Roy's last few years were spent in poverty. Paralyzed, he subsisted largely on the bounty of friends. All he had at his death was reputation but that doesn't pay doctors' or food bills. And that slender sustenance came to him only late in life.

For many years, the origin of the motion picture camera remained shrouded in mystery. There were many claimants. An impartial investigation finally allotted the honor of being the father of the motion picture industry to Le Roy. But it was not until two and one-half years after he had perfected the first projection machine that Le Roy got the idea he ought to patent his invention. Then, he found he had been six months too late.

Le Roy's experience is not novel in the history of invention. He lived in an age when the commercial idea was not so prevalent as now. He gave his first public exhibition of moving pictures in 1894. His statement on why he never patented his machine expresses, perhaps, better than ever before, how so many inventors lived to see others reap the enormous profits of their genius. Said Le Roy:

"I didn't patent my invention because I didn't realize what it was. That is the real truth. It was unfortunate for me that my knowledge of patents and patent law was exceedingly meagre. Like the average inventor, I centered my interest in the invention itself, to the absolute exclusion of everything else." —From Ziti's New York.

Wheat Stocks Increase

International Institute Of Agriculture At Home Forecasts Increase

The International Institute of Agriculture predicts in its semi-annual survey that wheat stocks will experience "a further and very appreciable increase" during the present season. On August 1, 1932, exportable stocks were 565,000,000 bushels, says the institute in forecasting that they have risen to 650,000,000 by August 1 of this year.

"The burden of these stocks may be readily grasped from the fact that their total appreciable exceeds world import requirements for the whole season," the survey states.

"It can only be hoped that in a short time the general world economic situation will improve and international commerce recover its normal course so that the very heavy burden of stocks that depresses so severely the world wheat market may be reduced to normal dimensions."

Mystifying Magic

New York Audience Sees Strange Things At Benefit Show

An audience in a New York theatre applauded the other night as a woman "burned to death" before their eyes. They asked questions of a grisly skull and marched forward to have their pockets poked. One man even smiled as his new derby hat was used as a mixing bowl for pancake batter.

These strange events took place during the annual benefit show of the Society of American Magicians.

The audience relished Joe Kello's derby hat trick and grinned delightedly as the borrowed derby was filled with batter, which changed mysteriously into six hot pancakes, leaving the derby steaming but unblemished.

When quantities of gold have to be sent long distances they are not very frequently being dispatched by air, or, if air services aren't available all the way, by air and sea. "It's cheaper by air," say the people concerned. They have worked it out that the saving of interest alone, which results from the rapidity of air transport, is more than sufficient to meet the express charges made for the service.

Looks For Rapid Recovery

Possibility Of Stupendous Boom Forecast By Able Economist

If it were somebody like Roger Babson who said it we would be more irritated than pleased. But, when a man like James Truslow Adams rises to say that he looks for rapid recovery within the next two years with the possibility of a "stupendous boom," then all of us had better take notice. James Truslow Adams is not engaged in the profitable profession of selling the public hand-picked statistics and optimistic predictions. He is one of the soundest and ablest economists on this continent, a man who, with a background of education and culture, is a philosopher and historian of world reputation.

"It took me to see recovery within the next two years," said Mr. Adams, adding: "The recovery may come in one. I believe we are on the threshold of a new frontier—a frontier of scientific discovery which may mean a stupendous boom."

Mr. Adams was one of the few men who really predicted the crash in 1929, and who (unlike some other prophets) was able to give grounds for his prediction. Since then his books and articles have steadily increased his reputation, until today he is one of the few economists on this continent who continue to speak with authority.

In the circumstances, his forecast of a speedy general recovery has a particular significance and will, in itself, contribute toward that end. —Ottawa Journal.

Boosting Lumber Trade

Industry In B.C. Being Stimulated By Improved Demand

Improved export demand for British Columbia lumber is stimulating the industry on Vancouver Island.

Mills are opening up again, men are going back to the saws, and soon a small army of fallers and buckers will be out in the big timbers.

Present demand is being taken care of with logs already cut, but with more orders in sight during the next few months, the lumber industry will develop to some extent its old time activity.

Lumber is now being exported to the United Kingdom, Australia, Japan and China, and there is said to be a decidedly better demand for the British Columbia product in the prairie provinces.

Stranger To Earthquakes

Recent Disaster Of California Had Moments Of Comedy

A lady writes us from Los Angeles to say that there was one moment of comedy in what she saw of the earthquake. While rescuers were tearing at the debris of a small building in Long Beach, they were startled by a woman's voice crying "Help!" Quick investigation showed that she was comparatively safe where she was, being rather more frightened than anything. So the rescuers went ahead with their more urgent work. At this the woman called to them again, in a voice tinged with exasperation. "Help me immediately," she commanded. "I am from the East and not used to this sort of thing." —The New York.

Had To Praise Britain

People Have Solid Qualities Said United States Writer

Arthur Brisbane, writer for the Hearst papers, with their well-known difference in finding much to admire that is British, does say something of a complimentary nature in a review of the trend to dictatorship throughout the world. He says: "The British alone retain some confidence in their ability to govern themselves as well as a great deal of confidence in their ability to manage others, including this bewildered nation. There are solid qualities in those British."

Reindeer Lake

The boundary between Manitoba and Saskatchewan passes through Reindeer Lake, the larger part being in the latter province. This lake is about 140 miles long with a maximum width of about 35 miles. Its greatest depth is approximately 80 feet and its water is very clear. It is dotted with islands, practically all of which are covered with green timber. The shores are mostly rocky and abrupt, but some sandy beaches occur. The southern end of the lake is shown on the Reindeer Lake South map recently issued by the Topographical Survey, Department of the Interior.

A Wise Policy

If Frank J. D. Barnum were alive, there is no doubt he would hold with glee the adoption of President Roosevelt's scheme to spend $250,000,000 a year on reforestation work, with the additional object of relieving unemployment, and urge the same policy upon the Canadian authorities.

Large Landward Movement

Many Families Have Been Placed On The Land Through Colonization Work

Between October 1, 1930, and January 1, 1933, the Canadian Government Department of Immigration and Colonization, the Canadian National Railway, and the Canadian Pacific Railway, working together, have been instrumental in placing upon farms in Canada a total of 10,733 families. These were families already resident in Canada. On the basis of five to the family this means 53,665 persons. This family settlement was confined to those who had sufficient capital to establish themselves on the land.

In the same period 23,253 single men were placed in farm employment. Adding these to the families, the impressive total of 76,918 persons actually placed on the land is reached.

Simultaneously with this movement land settlement activities were being carried on by the Provincial Governments. In one year—1931—the Government of the Province of Alberta placed 5,994 families in farm settlement, and in the three years 1930, 1931, and 1932, the Government of Alberta granted 19,223 homesteads to residents of that province. Similar activities were carried on by other provinces. In addition, there was a large landward movement entirely on the initiative of the individual settlers themselves.

U.S. Taxes Heavy Too

Comparative Figures Given By San Francisco Paper Are Startling

Tax money for 1932 could employ, at the $15-a-week rate paid by relief agencies, no fewer than 17,948,711 men for a whole year.

The combined annual cost of our Army, Navy and Air Force equals less than three weeks' tax impositions for 1932.

The tax burden averages $500 for each family in the land.

If all the paper currency in circulation throughout the country were added to all the gold, we would still owe the tax collectors as much more again—and more.

This year's taxes could pay off every farm mortgage in the land, with enough left over to donate almost a thousand dollars to each of six million farmers.

The total salaries and wages being paid this year by two hundred thousand manufacturing establishments to some eight million executives and employees will not match the Nation's tax collections.

Thirty-six Panama Canals could be built with one year's tax receipts. —The Argonaut, San Francisco.

Holding "Enjoyment Week"

Lord Mayor Of London Sponsors Seven Day Festival

Under the auspices of the Lord Mayor, London is holding an "Enjoyment Week" starting May 27 and concluding like the proposed execution in Gilbert's "Mikado," with "general rejoicings and a grand display of fireworks" on June 3, the King's birthday.

"A week of festival," says the Lord Mayor, "will undoubtedly have the effect of getting the people to take the brighter view of the situation. The situation is by no means as bad as is supposed in some quarters, either," said his lordship.

Hardly secondary to this aspiration though is the desire to further popularize London as a tourist centre. It is hoped the program will include a pageant procession and a gala demonstration.

Opinion Of Dirigible Expert

Eckener Thinks Break Was Cause Of Akron Disaster

Dr. Hugo Eckener, dirigible expert, discarded the theory that a storm had caused the Akron tragedy, and said in his opinion, from reading the reports of the inquiry, the crash was caused by a break of the big ship in the airplane carrier room.

Dr. Eckener said he always had considered the room, in which fighting planes were stored, a weak point in the Akron's framework. His comment came following New York reports tracing the Akron disaster to broken ribs in the huge dirigible.

Police Discarding Horses

Automobiles and Other Conveyances Replacing Horse Of Scarcity

The famous Royal Canadian Mounted Police have become mechanized and modernized to a large extent within the past few years. The horse, so closely associated with the scarlet coated force, is being replaced by machines.

With the added duties of customs preventive work and the fact that six provinces have scrapped their provincial police departments in favour of protection by the R.C.M.P., this force now has 2,500 officers and men. Their equipment is made up of 359 automobiles, 27 motorcycles, 13 trucks, 101 boats, both seagoing and for use in inland waters, 445 sled dogs, and only 256 horses. The dogs are still much in demand for work in the far northern sections of Canada although aeroplanes are rapidly coming into use to make in a few hours journeys that take days of horse and wheels.

The bottle will not soften under constant exposure to water or lactic acid, it is said, and will pass through present types of filling and capping machines.

Canada Has Become One Of The Most Popular Playgrounds On The North American Continent

In recent years Canada has become one of the most popular playgrounds of the North American continent and millions of tourists visit this country annually, in search of recreation.

Canada possesses an extensive system of modern highways, with good secondary roads linking together the main routes of travel. Excellent train services are in operation be-adventurous. Canoes and equipment may be rented and guides are available in practically all districts. Subject to reasonable fee prevention regulations the canoeist, camper, camera hunter or student of wild life, may come and go, unrestricted, through the country's vast forested areas.

Canada's fishing waters, on account of their extent and diversified tween the principal cities, while steamship lines connect lake and ocean ports. Every class of travel accommodation is available, from tourist camp to luxurious hotel. Our larger Canadian cities possess some of the finest hotels in the world and the majority of smaller cities and towns have modern establishments which cater to the travelling public.

Within reasonable touring distance of the main centres of population, recreational attractions of outstanding merit are to be found. Lakes and rivers well stocked with fish, hunting areas of vast extent and camping grounds in their natural state, are only a few of the many features which make the country a popular vacation land during all seasons of the year. An atmosphere of old France permeates Quebec and the Maritimes, while Ontario and the nature, provide an exceptional range of sport for the angler. The game fish include, salmon, brook trout, lake trout, bass, muskellunge, pike, pickerel, grayling, steelhead and tuna. Intelligent protection and constant restocking help to keep up the supply of fish in the popular districts while in the more remote areas there are still plenty of virgin waters. The cost of fishing licenses is moderate and the open seasons are long.

Canada is well supplied with golf courses and new ones are being built in every province. No city is without at least one golf club and most of the large towns and popular summer resorts have courses. Tennis is also popular in all parts of the country.

A number of specially prepared booklets on Canada's recreational attractions and automobile road maps indicating the main connecting high-

Western provinces have much to offer by way of historic sites and monuments.

For those who desire a vacation close to nature, a canoe trip is ideal and Canada's extensive system of short sub-arctic summer or the short rainy season of semi-tropical lands. It ripens 150 miles beyond the Arctic circle; and it is an important crop in areas such as north-eastern Africa, where heat cannot survive, says Prof. H. C. Grant, of Manitoba in the Empire Marketing Board's survey of barley. Even at an elevation of 10,000 feet, with a summer temperature of 52 degrees, where frosts are frequent, barley is grown.

From Tropics To Arctic

Barley the Most Widely Distributed and Hardest Cereal

Barley is the hardest of cereal plants. The cultivation of this crop is distributed from the desert's fringe to the edge of the Arctic. It matures more quickly than wheat, rye or oats, thus permitting its growth during the short sub-arctic summer or the short rainy season of semi-tropical lands. It ripens 150 miles beyond the Arctic circle; and it is an important crop in areas such as north-eastern Africa, where heat cannot survive, says Prof. H. C. Grant, of Manitoba in the Empire Marketing Board's survey of barley. Even at an elevation of 10,000 feet, with a summer temperature of 52 degrees, where frosts are frequent, barley is grown.

Social Call Thing Of Past

Has Been Practically Abolished By The Automobile

Legion are the sins of the automobile. Blame for undermining the morale of youth is placed at its off-shouldered door. In it the American Empire is said to be declining to its ultimate fall. Paternity of that precarious child, the partial-payment plan, is attributed to it by those who see in it a force that is rapidly destroying the once sound economic structure of the nation. Have not boys and girls from the farms driven away in it to the city? Have not moralists and sentimentalists accused it of breaking the home circle? In fact, where is there a so-called evil of today that this atomic invention hasn't had a hand in?

If it is true that the automobile has brought all these ills upon humanity, it has more than compensated for them by one blessing it has brought. This boon to mankind is the abolition of the ancient and overworked custom of the "social call."

Anyone who attempts to find an old friend "at home" in this auto-motive age comes sharply to a realization of the utter futility of trying to be neighborly and sociable. To those who hopelessly old-fashioned as to go "calling" on a sunny afternoon the houses of the village must seem as deserted as Goldsmith's "Sweet Auburn, loveliest village of the plain."

What pang of unfeigned curiosity the ladies of gossip must suffer in this era when the new family in the neighborhood is never "at home to callers" at times when it is perfectly proper for a member of the auxiliary to call. And with this once constant threat of an unannounced visit from Mrs. Pecksniff down the street and this incentive for domestic tidiness and extravagance in household furnishings removed, is there not grave danger of that predicted deterioration of the home?

Motoring has usurped the place of the "afternoon call" as the great Sunday pastime of the nation.

Rural Customer Thought Banker's Wedding Attire Mark Of Poverty

A story is now told of a banker who had to attend an early afternoon wedding. He went to his office in striped trousers and cut-away because he knew he would have no time to change after leaving work.

During the morning he had a chat with a customer from a rural district. The client started to tell the banker how terrible business was, but the banker tried to reassure him without success.

Require Special Care

Precautions Necessary To Keep Bees From Drifting In Spring

Bees know their home by location only, but when they have been forcibly confined to their hives for long periods, location is forgotten and old landmarks must be learned anew when the next flight is taken. Bees that have been wintered in cellars or dug-outs are, as a rule, badly disorganized when taking their first flight in the spring, unless special precautions are taken to prevent an immediate flight when resuming them from their winter quarters.

If weather conditions are such that the bees may fly freely when they are returned to their summer stands, they will rush pell-mell from their hives without "locating" themselves, with the result that many may drift to other hives when the flight is over. Drifting usually causes the strong colonies to become stronger and the weak colonies weaker.

To prevent drifting, indoor winter colonies should be moved from their winter quarters when the weather is suitable for an immediate flight, or late in the evening after all flight for the day is over. This will reduce the excitement and enable the bees to become acquainted with their new location gradually.

Placing colonies too closely together encourages drifting, especially if the hives are all uniform in appearance, the entrances all facing in one direction, and there are no guiding marks for the bees to follow. The colonies should be at least six feet apart and even the so-called drifting may occur. Bees that have wintered outside have already learned their location, but if several colonies are standing together in one case, considerable confusion and drifting may be caused when removing the cases in the spring, especially if the hive entrances are close together. The cases are best removed and the colonies spread apart when the bees are confined to their hives because of bad weather.

Drifting is a spring problem, for the colonies become established, little or no drifting occurs. If drifting can be prevented when returning the colonies to their summer stands, later work of equalization will be avoided.

New York Hotel Has Good Idea In "Over Night Club"

How the receivers of a new midtown hotel, east of Fifth Avenue, New York, are bidding for business, has attracted attention in hotel circles. Canadian Labrador Has Thirty Small Villages

Medical Missionary Gives Interesting Talk On Community Life

Life in the Canadian Labrador with Harrington hospital as the centre of a community was described at London, Ontario, recently by Dr. Donald Hodd, now on furlough, and for seven years on the hospital staff. In the Canadian Labrador there are 30 small villages; education, although controlled by the provincial department of education is still backward and there are few qualified teachers, most of the teaching being done by the young people of the district who have had only elementary schooling.

"The hospitality of the people is wonderful," Dr. Hodd said. "They may only have bread and a baked apple, but it is shared joyfully with their guests." Difficulties of an insufficient supply of fresh water were cited. There are no wells, and the granite formation of the rocks, the oldest known, defies all efforts. At Harrington they are dependent on the rainy season for their water supply. As far as bales are concerned, old overcoats, past all other possible use, are welcomed. These are made into "shoes" for the dogs who suffer from bleeding feet caused by continual trotting on the ice.

The future of the Canadian export trade in wheat is discussed by Dr. D. A. MacGibbon, professor of political economy, University of Alberta, in a paper published with numerous graphs, in the University of Toronto studies in history and economics. His conclusion is that Western Canada is destined long to remain an important cultivator and exporter of wheat, but that we are approaching more closely than people suspect the peak of production and export of wheat.

In 1928 Western Canada harvested approximately 545 million bushels of wheat, and sold to the world wheat and wheat flour valued at $428,500,000. In 1929, when Canadian wheat was practically withheld from the world's markets, exports shrank one-half. In 1930 carryovers or surpluses of wheat, the great fall in prices of wheat, and the financial difficulties of the wheat pool appeared as serious problems, and in 1931 there occurred the disastrous drought in the southern half of Saskatchewan and in adjoining parts of Alberta and Manitoba.

Dr. MacGibbon calculates that Saskatchewan may reach a maximum yield of about 405 million bushels of wheat, or an increase of about 85 million bushels. By a similar calculation Alberta may reach 211 million bushels, an increase of 40 million bushels. Manitoba is reaching a stable position. Hence, he arrives at a possible maximum wheat crop of about 670 million to 700 million bushels in Western Canada. But after Saskatchewan and Alberta reach the point of maximum production there will be a considerable decline just as there has been in Ontario, Manitoba, Minnesota and elsewhere.

Between 1924 and 1928 Canada exported on the average 262 million bushels of wheat. The rapidity with which the remaining land suitable for agriculture is settled will largely determine whether Canada will ever substantially better this average. Personally, Dr. MacGibbon does not expect much increase in exports. On the other hand he sees no ground for believing that average export figures will fall below 200 millions for many years to come. The late Professor May in his paper read at the British Association in Winnipeg, 1909, estimated wheat export at 232 million bushels. Dr. MacGibbon thinks that, even with this quantity, wheat would probably continue to be our most important article of export.

It may be that the authorities quoted have not made full allowance for the as yet unoccupied wheat lands of the Peace River Country and the North West Territories. Even in the settled portions of the Prairie Provinces millions of acres are as yet untitled. There is also the fact that new types of hardy, rapidly maturing wheats are constantly pushing the wheat line further north. On the other hand the progress of mixed farming will operate to curtail the acreages sown to wheat—even though the present proposal to limit wheat planting internationally comes to nothing.—Toronto Mail and Empire.

Making a Rose Bed

Preparation Of The Soil To Ensure The Best Results

In order to make a good bed for roses where the soil is not naturally deep and where there is poor drainage, first remove the good soil from the surface, then remove the lower soil so that about two feet in depth of soil is removed altogether. Then, if the soil needs drainage, lay three-inch tile on the bottom with sufficient fall to carry the surplus water away, having of course a down spout for it. If this tile drainage is not practicable, some gravel or small stones below the two feet of soil will help the drainage. Put good surface soil, preferably with some clay in it, on the bottom, spread a heavy coat of rotted manure on it, and dig it in. Then put back the surface soil which had been removed from the bed, or better soil if it is poor, and again dig manure into it. This, says Dr. Macoun, the Dominion Horticulturist, should make a good bed for roses.

Cease Salvage Operations

British Expert Has Lost Money At Scapa Flow

Scapa Flow, desolate bay in the Orkney Islands and scene of the mightiest salvage operation ever undertaken, is soon to remain a normal aspect after ten years of bustling activity.

F. E. Cox, Britain's salvage expert, who has succeeded in raising 32 of the 42 warships of the German grand fleet, which were scuttled shortly after the armistice, has decided to stand the remaining ten vessels still at the bottom of the bay.

Until the beginning of the depression it seemed that he would make money on the deal, but with the slump in prices for scrap iron and copper he finds he has lost $100,000 on his $2,500,000 deal with the authorities.

TARIFF TRUCE BETWEEN U.S. AND BRITAIN NEAR

London, May 9.—The draft text of the tariff truce agreement between Great Britain and the United States was despatched by cable to Washington today for approval of the United States government.

The barriers standing in the way of Great Britain's acceptance of the tariff truce proposal were swept away at a conference between Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, Norman Davis, United States representative and other British officials.

They met in the House of Commons and immediately after the conclusion of their discussions, Mr. MacDonald went on the floor and informed the members of Parliament.

The actual agreement, the prime minister told the House was "subject to the settlement of the actual words and protection of the essential position of both governments."

This condition was widely interpreted as meaning that Britain would reserve the right to conclude trade agreements already being negotiated. Similar agreements just concluded have involved tariff concessions by the British.

The prime minister also touched on the war debt issue, saying that "our aim must be a permanent settlement."

He declared that June 16, the due date of the next instalment would be an awkward hurdle.

"But a quiet survey of the possibilities is required in the meantime," he continued, "and nothing ought to be said here which would increase the difficulties as to make the hurdle almost impossible to clear."

"There have been further exchanges of views with the United States government," the prime minister said, "and I am now in a position to say that subject to settlement of the actual words and while protecting the essential positions of both governments, there is every prospect of reaching an agreement between them as to the advisability of an immediate tariff truce."

Mr. MacDonald said the truce would not prevent continuation of work which Britain now had begun or was developing in accordance with announcements already made in the house.

The reference to work before the commons evidently was an allusion to British trade negotiations recently made or announced as pending.

LONELY RANCH

CRIME SCENE

Pelly, Sask., May 9.—A lonely ranch home, far from the nearest settlement and more than two score miles from here, held the secret of a murder and suicide tonight as Royal Canadian Mounted Police investigators trudged over rough trails to Five Paw plains.

Word relayed to police here today told how Edward Thurston, a rancher, had shot and killed Peter Pasque, killing him instantly, and then committed suicide. It was also reported that Thurston attempted to kill his wife, but she escaped.

Returning to his home Sunday, Thurston, according to a meagre police report received here, found Pasque, a neighboring rancher, in the company of Mrs. Thurston. A quarrel followed ending in the death of the two men.

Police, accompanied by the district coroner, Dr. C. P. B. Dundas, are expected to reach the ranch late tonight, but a report of their findings will not be known until they return here.

A TRAGIC OCCURRENCE

Inspector L. J. Sampson, a distinguished and gallant member of the R.C.M.P., died through an accident which occurred in the course of those tragic results of the present unrest. Although apparently the result of a fall from his horse, it is, nevertheless, a direct outcome of civil strife.

The first necessity in this connection is to pay tribute to an officer who was performing his duty as he saw it, and to point out that men in his position rarely illustrate their true value to a community until they encounter violence. In this instance he paid for the performance of his duty with his life.

The second is to suggest that out of such a tragic event as this unwarranted surge of emotion may arise. It is devoutly to be wished that this lamentable occurrence will not distort the issues in the mind of the average man and will not produce that hysterical reaction which so frequently, and so unfortunately, accompanies such disasters.

It is necessary to retain a balance in the face of violent events, so that society can apply intelligence to the solution of its problems.

Inspector Sampson is a victim of circumstances which have victimized citizens in all parts of this country, which have produced misunderstanding and friction and actual violence. Let us hope that such sacrifices as his will not lead to irrational action, in other words, that they will not be in vain.

MOTHER'S DAY SERVICES

Mother's Day will be observed throughout both services this Sunday. In the morning an open session of the Sunday School will be held—the Mothers and Babies of the Grade Roll are cordially urged to be present, and all the friends of the congregation. Mrs. Hargreaves will be the speaker, her subject being "A Tribute to Mother."

At the evening service, we shall enjoy special music and the pastor will preach from the thought: "Mother's Vital Place." By attending these services you will participate in remembering your love and devotion to your Mother, whether alive or passed on to rest and reward.

At the close of the evening service, the ordinance of the Lord's Supper will be observed and the reception of new members will take place.

GOLF NOTES

The first Bridge Tea will be held on Friday, May 12th. Without further invitation all ladies interested are asked to be present. The hostesses for tickets will be Mrs. Campbell, and Mrs. Chisholm. The tea will be held every Friday, and the fee for the season will be two dollars.

The rains of this week have held up the tournament play for the cup, but we expect that it will be finished within the next week.

Lady Golfers are reminded that the teas are for them as well as for the Bridge Players, and all are urged to turn out and make these days a success for everybody.

Due to an error in printing, the name of Mrs. Pratt was substituted for that of Miss Pratt in the Tournament Committee, and that of Mrs. Locke in place of Mrs. Campbell for the Tea Committee, in last week's report.

SPRUCEVILLE NEWS

The afternoon meeting of the U.F.W.A. will be held at the home of Mrs. Nelson Hall, on Wednesday, May 17th. A good Mother's Day programme is being prepared. Spruceville extends congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Kascha, on the arrival of a baby boy, on Saturday last.

Miss Kathleen Green, of Calgary, will be at Spruceville on 20th of May and will give a recital, assisted by local talent. Come and hear her. Mrs. Barker and family drove up to Ponoka on Sunday for a visit.

BLACKFALDS NEWS

The United Church will observe "Mother's Day" next Sunday. The regular Mother's Day programme will be given in the Sunday Schools at Blackfalds and Spruceville at the regular hours. A pageant will be given by the young people at the evening service at Blackfalds at 11 p.m.

Mrs. Kathleen H. Green will give her recital at Blackfalds on the 19th, and at Spruceville on the 20th. The heavy rains interfered with farm work and with the country Church services last week end. The few fields of unthreshed grain will suffer from the excessive moisture.

MOTION PICTURES

The firm which has been supplying the films for these motion picture programmes has given a satisfactory explanation of the failure of the last programme to reach Lacombe in time to be shown as advertised. In the future, however, because of the consistent lack of financial support, there will not be any free programmes. At the next showing on May 16th when the picture will be "The American" with Douglas Fairbanks, the admission will be 15c. for adults and 10c. for all those under 14 years of age.

On Tuesday, May 30th, the picture will be "The Foreign Legion" which includes several famous picture actors and actresses. You should not miss this big feature.

A new policy of admissions will at that time be put in force. Watch next week's issue of the Globe for full particulars of the new "Strip" ticket and the Price Control.

INSPECTOR SAMPSON KILLED

Saskatoon, May 8.—Inspector L. J. Sampson, R.C.M.P., died here this evening as a result of a fractured skull caused through the stumbling of his horse and subsequent dragging during a clash between unemployed and the R.C.M.P. at the relief camp here.

Also injured was J. Ross McBrien, son of Commissioner McBrien, head of the Mounted Police.

British Columbia's board of eugenics, to be created under the Sterilization Act, will assume control of its duties when the statute comes into effect, July 1. It will be a voluntary board, composed of a member of the judiciary, a psychiatrist and a social worker, yet to be named, who will serve without remuneration.

The duties of the board will be to pass upon recommendations from superintendents of any provincial mental home or industrial schools, where it is suggested that hereditary mental deficiency or serious mental disease may be passed on to successive generations without interference. If the consent of the patient or a guardian is obtained, the board may order application of the statute in such case, first holding individual investigation into the case. Where consent is withheld, the operation would not be proceeded with in any case. The cost would be borne by the institution concerned and choice of a surgeon would be accorded.

Making Sugar From Wood

Suitable For All Kinds Of Confectionery Is Claim

After ten years of experimentation in his laboratory at the noted German chemical Berthel, to whom the Nobel Prize was awarded for his process for liquefying coal, has perfected a process for making sugar from wood. It is now being put into practical application under his supervision.

The finely ground and dried wood is placed in a great kettle with an admixture of 40 per cent. muriatic acid, and treated with a diffuser battery until a syrup is procured. This syrup of molasses is then boiled down, evaporating the acid, and a further step in the process converts it into wood sugar, which can be used, as can also the molasses, as a fodder for animals, for making yeast, for distilling alcohol and for other purposes.

Still another step changes the wood sugar into chemically pure grape sugar, which can be used for all kinds of confectionery, taking the place of cane or beet sugar.

"Cottage Cheese" For Poultry

Where an abundance of milk is available, it may be used in the form of cottage cheese, which is greedily eaten by all kinds of poultry. This is prepared by allowing the milk to sour until it becomes thick. A gentle heat is then applied, which causes the curd to separate from the whey. The whey is drained off from the curd. The whey is strained off from the curd. The whey is strained off from the curd. The whey is strained off from the curd.

Copper Walls For Bungalows
Bungalows with copper walls are being constructed in Germany since it has been found that this metal offers advantages over steel houses, principally because it is rust-proof and requires no protective coat of paint.

The Debt Adjustment Act, 1933

Important Legislation Passed In Saskatchewan At Recent Session

The Debt Adjustment Act, 1933, passed at the recent session of the Saskatchewan legislature, does not differ very materially from the Act of 1932, which it replaces. Its scope, however, is much wider. While the former Act applied only to certain restricted classes of residents, the new Act protects every person who is an actual resident of the province, and that protection extends to every person who, though not an actual resident, is the owner of farm land in the province on which a member of his family conducts farming operations. All companies, except banks, carrying on business in the province, are also protected.

Amicable Settlements Between Debtors and Creditors
The new Act repeats the provisions of the superseded Act with respect to amicable arrangements for settlement of debts. Such arrangements may be made, through the medium of the Debt Adjustment Board, between a resident and his creditors, and may provide for settlement of the resident's debts either in full or by a composition.

If an adjustment cannot be arrived at between the resident and his creditors, the board is empowered to determine from time to time the basis on which the resident ought to pay the claims of his creditors and on which the creditors should accept payment of their claims; and, in case the resident fails to comply with any directions given by the board, the board may issue a permit authorizing the creditors to proceed against the resident.

Readjustments Between Debtor and Creditor Upon Petition

Falling an amicable agreement between a resident and his creditors, or failing compliance with any directions given by the board, the board is empowered, upon petition of the debtor or any of his creditors, to make such readjustments as it deems expedient for the relief of the debtor or for a re-adjustment of the contractual relationship between the resident and his creditors, having regard to the economic conditions prevailing at the date of the petition and those existing during the intervening period. In particular the board may, in order, provide for postponement of payment of all or any debts of the resident; prohibit the exercise of any rights of the creditor; direct the debtor to deal with all or any part of his property in such manner as the board deems expedient.

Proceedings Prohibited Unless Permitted

The main purpose of the Act is contained in section 11. That section commences by providing that no legal or other proceeding, including in certain circumstances the exercise of a right, shall be taken, made or continued against a resident unless a permit has been issued by the board or a member thereof, or by any person authorized by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council.

The prohibited classes of proceedings are as follows:
(a) action or suit for any legal, equitable or statutory claim, demand, debt or account, or for any money due;

(b) action, suit, or proceeding upon a covenant under an agreement for sale or mortgage of land or assignment or sub-agreement for sale or mortgage;

(c) action or proceeding for sale under a power of sale or mortgage on land, or for cancellation, rescission or specific performance of an agreement for sale of land or for recovery of possession of land, whether in court or otherwise;

(d) proceeding to acquire title to land by virtue of any tax except a preliminary application by a tax purchaser to a registrar of land titles pursuant to a writ by virtue of section 53 of The Arraers of Taxes Act;

(e) proceeding by way of execution;

(f) action or proceeding to sell under a writ of satisfaction of any judgment or mechanic's lien;

(g) seizure in the nature of a writ of attachment, or under any lien, agreement for sale, chattel mortgage, hire purchase agreement or conditional sale agreement, whether by virtue of a right at common law or under statute;

(h) seizure under any agreement for sale or mortgage of land, or occupation as residential property;

(i) seizure under any agreement for sale or mortgage of land, or occupation as residential property, in excess of the share to which any person making a seizure is entitled under sections 2 and 3 of The Limitation of Civil Rights Act, 1933, and whether by virtue of rights at common law or under statute;

(j) such other class of legal or other proceedings as may be brought within the provisions of this section by order of the Lieutenant-Governor in Council.

And the prohibition applies to proceedings commenced either before or after the twenty-first day of March, 1933, the date on which the Act came into force.

There are a number of important exceptions to the general prohibition above set forth. These exceptions are as follows:

1. The prohibition does not apply to any contract made or entered into by a debtor, the whole of the original term of which was completed on or before the first day of April, 1933, nor to any action or suit which is founded on tort, save with respect to a contract which is merely a renewal or revision of a contract originally entered into prior to that date.

2. Again the prohibition does not apply to:

(a) an action or suit by a municipality or other body of ratepayers or any of the other remedies available to a municipality for the collection of rates;

(b) seizure in the nature of a distress for rent, provided that the goods distrained shall not be sold or otherwise disposed of without the written permission of the board; and

(c) such further class of boards of legal or other proceeding

Rear-Admiral Hon. Sir Alexander Ramsay, who married Princess Patricia, daughter of the Duke of Connaught, has been appointed in command of Britain's aircraft carriers succeeding Rear-Admiral Reginald Henderson. Sir Alexander in his varied naval career has had wide experience with these ships and it is expected he will host his flag in the "Courageous", one of the finest of aeroplane carriers. Above is a picture of Rear-Admiral Sir Alexander Ramsay and also of the "Courageous."

as may be withdrawn from the operation of the Act by order of the Lieutenant-Governor in Council.
3. Proceedings by way of attachment or garnishment may be initiated by a creditor of a resident and service effected on the garnishee but no further steps in such proceedings shall be taken without the issue of a permit by the board.
4. The continuation of the following actions and proceedings is permitted:
(a) actions or proceedings for sale under or foreclosure of mortgages of land, or for cancellation, rescission, or specific performance of agreements for sale of land, or for recovery of possession of land, whether in court or otherwise, commenced and set down for trial prior to the coming into force of the Act, save that no final order shall be made or judgment rendered and no sale of land shall be effected, unless the board issues a permit for the purpose; and
(b) actions or proceedings other than those set forth in clause (a) which have been set down for trial or are under appeal prior to the coming into force of the Act, provided that no writ of execution shall issue pursuant to judgment in such actions, unless the board issues a permit for the purpose.

Issue Of Certificates
The provisions of last year's Act authorizing the issue of certificates appears again in the new Act. Hitherto these certificates were issued only on the application of a resident but now they may be issued either on application of a resident or of any of his creditors. After a certificate has been issued no proceedings of the nature above mentioned can be taken, made or continued against the resident without the written authority of the board; the resident is prohibited from dealing with his property, and no purchase made by him under a conditional agreement has any validity unless the previous written authority of the board has been obtained.
Where a certificate has been issued, or a permit has been refused or cancelled, the board is authorized to:
(a) direct the resident named therein to deal with all or any part of his property in such manner as the board may in its discretion deem expedient;
(b) in the case of residential property occupied as such by a resident, and having regard to all the circumstances, fix a sum to be paid as rent of the property by the resident to pay it in the manner specified in the direction to the mortgagee or vendor of the property or to any person claiming through or under such mortgagee or vendor.
It is the duty of the resident to comply with such directions, and the board is empowered to distribute the proceeds of sale of any property of the resident received by it for distribution in such manner as it deems fit.

General Postponement
The Act also provides for the postponement of payment of all debts, liabilities or obligations, or the enforcement of liens or incumbrances or securities. This may be done by proclamation of the Lieutenant-Governor in Council. The Lieutenant-Governor in Council is also authorized to prohibit the issue of process already issued, or to extend or otherwise vary the exemption privileges which execution debtors now enjoy.

Agreements Waiving Act Have No Effect
Agreements providing that the Act shall not apply, or that the remedies provided by it shall not be available, are declared to be null and void and of no effect.

Crop Payments
A reference has been made to sections 2 and 3 of The Limitation of Civil Rights Act, 1933. These sections provide as follows:
2.—(1) Notwithstanding anything contained in The Crop Payments Act or in any agreement for sale or mortgage of land to which that Act applies, or in any other agreement for sale or mortgage of land, or in any share of crop lease collateral to a mortgage or agreement for sale of land, or mortgage of farm land, or in respect of the crop grown by the purchaser or mortgagee in the years 1932 and 1933, affect more than one-third of the crop produced in either of those years, the purchaser, mortgagee or lessee may, in the year 1933, out of the share of the crop belonging to the vendor, mortgagee or lessee, pay one year's tax upon the land on which the crop is grown, and, in such case, upon production of the receipt of the mortgagee for such payment, the vendor, mortgagee or lessor shall be entitled only to the one-third share of the crop, or the share authorized under section 3, less the amount shown upon such receipt.

(2) The benefit of the provisions contained in subsection (1) of this section shall be applicable to and include the assignors of agreements for sale and mortgages, and the assignees of purchasers and mortgagees respectively.
(3) This section shall not apply to the case of the sale of land with chattels to a resident upon an entire consideration.
(4) For the purpose of subsection (3) the word "resident" shall not have the same meaning as in The Debt Adjustment Act, 1933, but shall be interpreted in accordance with its ordinary significance.

In any case in which the provisions of subsections (1) and (2) of section 2 apply, where a vendor or mortgagee has purchased or supplied the seed or paid a share of the cost of threshing and binder twine, such vendor or mortgagee shall be entitled to the share of the crop not exceeding one-half thereof agreed to be delivered to him, provided that the purchaser or mortgagee may make application to the Debt Adjustment Board for relief from such agreement, and thereupon the board may determine what share of the crop, not exceeding one-half thereof, shall be delivered to the vendor or mortgagee, and upon delivery of such share, the interest in the crop of the vendor or mortgagee shall cease and determine.

Duration Of Act
The Debt Adjustment Act remains in force only until the first day of March, 1936. There is no such restriction in the case of The Limitation of Civil Rights Act.

Deaf and Blind Pianist

Accomplished Gift's Mastery Of Piano Result Of Great Patience

Helen May Martin, of Merriam, Kansas, has been deaf and blind since she was eight days old. Now at 38, she can play the harp and piano so well that she has appeared in public concert. She thrills at the crash of thunder and the thud of falling hail. She can read all the 12 different systems of writing invented for the blind.

Helen Keller has acclaimed her to be "the only deaf and blind musician" and "the most accomplished deaf and blind person in the world."

With an ordinary tin can concealed in her lap, she once attended a piano concert given by Paderewski and enjoyed every bit of it. Gripping the container tightly, she distinguished the tones by catching the vibrations.

Whenever a thunderstorm breaks over her home in this suburb of Kansas, she rushes to the attic in order to catch the vibrations in the air.

Her mastery of the piano was the result of great patience. A scale was devised on which four beams represented a whole note, two beams a half note and one beam a quarter note. Because she could neither see the keyboard nor hear the note, progress was slow. Now she knows more than 100 compositions by heart and has a library of 6,000 pieces of music which she wrote in a system readable to the blind.

Radio Sales Last Year

Total Purchased In All Provinces Valued At $6,758,959

Saskatchewan radio buyers accounted for 5.4 per cent. of the radio sales in Canada in 1932. The total sold during the year was $354,446 valued at $6,758,959.

Percentage of other provinces were: Ontario, 39.3; Quebec, 29.9; British Columbia, 9.6; Manitoba, 9.6; Alberta, 6.6; Nova Scotia, 4.1; New Brunswick, 2.1; and Prince Edward Island, .4.

The sales in 1931 were 286,122 sets, valued at $18,141,347.

Canadian War Graves Commission

Twenty-eight packets of seeds of wild flowers have been sent to the Imperial War Graves Commission by the Division of Botany of the Canadian Government Experimental Farms for planting in the graves of those who passed on during the period 1914-18. The War Graves Commission maintains its own nurseries in France and Belgium for raising flowers for the cemeteries under its care and in the spring, summer, and autumn months the cemeteries so attractively laid out are aglow with bloom. The Division of Botany has also recently sent out 4,802 packets of seeds from 1,587 species of plants, etc., 189 foot plants and 10 cuttings to 110 botanical gardens or other botanical institutions in different parts of the world, and returns 21,171 packets of seeds and 21 cuttings have been received by the Canadian Government Experimental Farms from other countries.—Canada Week by Week.

Holland Has New Idea

Would Have All Nations Issue and Sell Peace Stamps

Emerson said something about a symbol always stimulating the intellect, and the thought arises as word comes from Holland that that sturdy little land has an idea for promoting the cause of peace. The idea lies in a peace postage stamp, with the figure of a dove and a peace symbol added, that is, it is hoped, will be sold by all nations, at the same prices as their regular issues and for the same purpose. The voluntary purchase of a peace stamp would be regarded as a vote for peace, the request for such a stamp and the use of it being taken as an indication of the purchaser's sentiments.

Prominent statesmen in a number of countries have endorsed the Dutch proposal. Clearly the issue of such stamps might act as a powerful stimulus in strengthening individual and national sentiment in favor of world peace. At least it could do no harm.—Regina (Evening) Leader-Post.

Good Habit To Cultivate

Canadians Would Do Well To Spend Vacations In Canada

According to official estimates $58,000,000 was spent on foreign travel during 1932 by residents of this country, notwithstanding the depression and adverse discount of Canadian funds in foreign countries. What there was a decrease of $18,452,000 in such expenditures, compared with the previous year, there would still appear to be room for further reduction. The circulation in Canada of so large a sum as that spent by Canadians on foreign travel would be of inestimable benefit to those who cater to the travelling public and to the numerous classes that would be indirectly affected by the resulting increased purchasing power. Vacationing in Canada therefore is a habit which every Canadian might very well cultivate, to the benefit of the country's advantage.—Department of Interior Bulletin.

Dangers Of War

Another Uplaval Would Lay Heavy Hand On World Peace

Reaction of the North American continent to the forebodings of another war in Europe was that "we must somehow keep out of it." Professor Reginald Coupland, of Oxford University, told the Canadian Club at Ottawa, following an extensive tour through the United States and Canada.

In the closely knit world of today, North America could not shelter behind the Atlantic Ocean, he told his hearers. The credit and the civilization of the continent must be rocked by such a disaster in Europe. It would be much more encouraging he said, if the people of North America would take the attitude that "We will do all we can to see that such a war does not take place."

Some Household Hints
In boiling syrup and water for icing, a pinch of cream of tartar added to the mixture will keep the syrup from crystallizing.

Wash parsley in hot water if you want to better its flavor and make it easier to chop.

Fine salt should be used to clean pearl-handled articles. They should then be polished with a chamois.

Pure soap and warm water are excellent for washing mahogany furniture.

A pinch of soda placed in the water while peas are boiling will make them retain their color.

Mirror that are rubbed with tissue paper crushed into a ball will respond with a radiant clearness and sparkle.

Brown sugar combined with milk will not curdle while cooking if a pinch of soda is placed in the mixture.

Where Radio Gets News
A press dispatch from Ottawa conveyed to Toronto broadcasting stations the news that the five per cent. advertising limit is now in effect. Canada Grain Act

Two Important Changes In The Act Are Contemplated

Hon. Henry Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce, gave notice today of amendments to the Canada Grain Act, and the text of the bill reveals that two important changes are to be made.

The lending of wheat by the Montreal harbor commission is to be placed under the control of the board of grain commissioners, which means, in effect, that the practice will be stopped. This amendment already has been accurately forecast.

Recently an eastern elevator went into bankruptcy and the litigation that followed proved that all the grain in the elevator must be considered as an ordinary asset of the elevator, and that the owners thereof must accept settlement on the same basis as all other creditors. The bill of lading was held to fall when wheat in such elevators is bulked. Ownership of specially binned wheat would continue to rest with the holder of the bill of lading.

In the case of this eastern elevator, the bank which had advanced money against the through bills of lading lost heavily. The proposed amendment provides that the through bill of lading shall constitute ownership notwithstanding the fact that the grain has been bulked for transfer purposes and an eastern elevator. If the grain is stored in such an elevator the amendment will enable the holder of the bill of lading to exchange it for warehouse receipts, which are equal proof against any hazards of failure on the part of the elevator company.

Both amendments were drafted by Travers Sweetnam, K.C., of Winnipeg.

Jewish Professor Resigns

Joint Nobel Prize Winner Is Victim Of Hitler Program

Professor James Frank, joint Nobel Prize winner with Gustave Hertz for physics in 1925, presented his resignation from Goettingen University to the Ministry of Education.

"We Germans of Jewish descent are being treated as foreigners and enemies of the fatherland. It is demanded from us that our children shall grow up conscious of never being allowed to show their worth as Germans," he wrote to the university rector.

"World War veterans are to be permitted to continue to serve the state. I refuse to accept this favor although I understand the viewpoint of those who conceive it to be their duty to keep their posts."

Prof. Frank volunteered for four years, served continuously for four years and was decorated with the Iron Cross, first class.

Poets In Parliament

History Shows That Several Members Have Cultivated the Muse

"The Ottawa Journal, in an editorial recently, lamented the fact that Canadian politicians, unlike their confederates, never wrote letters to the papers about birds, or penned poetry, or painted or took much interest in the arts. The Journal reports that the next morning the postman brought to the editorial desk a new song, words and music written by James Herbert Stitt, M.P. for Selkirk. Mr. Stitt is not the first poet the House of Commons has produced. The greatest of all was the martyred statesman and father of confederation, Hon. D'Arcy McGee. His poetry ranks with Canada's best. Nicholas Flood Davin was another poet of high rank—London Free Press.

Where Land Is Free

Friendly Islands Give Every Boy An Equal Chance

Tonga, in the Pacific, has announced that there is land for everyone in its islands. Queen Saloti and her husband, who is Prime Minister, have seen that every youth in the Friendly Islands on reaching 16 is given a quarter of an acre of land in his village and eight acres in the bush. He must build his hut and grow coconuts. Education is free and compulsory in Tonga, and 99 per cent. of Tongans can read and write.

Improved His Time

When Pedro Gutierrez was recently released from the county jail at Las Cruces, New Mexico, after being held since April, 1932, as suspect in a murder case, he presented Sheriff Dick Truitt with a set of bedroom furniture made entirely out of cigar boxes. Gutierrez carved the furniture during his idle moments in the county lockup.

THREW AWAY HIS STICK

When Solatious Yielded to Kruschen

There can be no doubt that this man has finished walking with a stick. It is now four years since he discarded it.

He writes: "For 18 months I suffered with chronic sciatica and rheumatism, and was unable to walk without the aid of a stick. But after taking Kruschen Salts for a short time, I was able to throw away the stick. It is now four years since this happened, and I have had no return of the complaint, and have not lost a day from work. I shall never be without Kruschen Salts, as they are worth their weight in gold. You can use this letter as you please, as I can honestly recommend Kruschen Salts to any sufferer."

If the eliminating organs become sluggish, they permit harmful uric acid to accumulate and deposit itself in the tissues, muscles and joints in the form of needle-pointed crystals, which, piercing the nerve sheaths, cause excruciating pains of sciatica. The six salts in Kruschen stimulate the eliminating organs to healthy, regular action. Mischievous uric acid is then given no chance to collect.

"I've been awake four or five days and nights that's what! Not a wink! Didn't dare sleep. It made me sweat blood to think of you lighting down over there and getting nailed. I had to draw your attention somehow when you were over the lake; and it was to me a whooper of a signal, that far away, I got a couple big piles of birch paper ready and had a drum of birch bark to soak it with; and a third man, would never rise from the water. It taxed nearly a half-mile before it began smacking the waves. The police boat swerved right and diagonaled in to cut across its course. White puffs of smoke were bursting from a rifle in the prow, from a rifle in the hands of George Haskell.

"I had to stay awake every minute," Bill continued, "for fear you'd come and fly right into the trap. And then I had to guard the Smokey. He's tied up back there; didn't dare turn him loose, or he'd told me where I was. If I'd ever got started doing I'd have beaten this Rip Winkle fellow for long-distance sleeping. There was times when I got so near overpowered I had to wade out and set on a rock with the water under my chin, where I didn't dare go to sleep or I'd been drowned."

Merely by looking at Bill, Alan knew that his former partner had left half his story untold. It was only afterwards that he heard all the details of Bill's heroic siege.

"How about Joyce?" he asked. "You've been to see him, Bill?"

"I ducked aside twice. Last time was a week ago. She's taken in a big raft of peltry. She's closing up the place to go out to Edmonton and be with her dad."

"A week ago," Alan thought. "Any thing could have happened in a week." He asked, "Any news at Edmonton?"

Just everyday things, Bill reported. Except for Larry, Larry would cry, Bill said, whenever he looked at his shattered leg. Larry, who kept himself as young as men half his age, who prided himself on his wolf-like body—he was wasted away to a mere shadow of his former self.

Glancing out across En Traversa, Alan suggested: "We'd better be leaving here. Haskell and his stool pigeon over there probably saw us light. They may take a notion to whip across the lake after us. Where's the oil and gas, Bill?"

"Right you by that rock jumble. The Smokey is just this side. I'll go along."

"You stay here; you're about once in. Buzzard, you turn the plane and make ready for a quick getaway in case that launch shows up. I'll get the drums."

He hurried to the angle of junipers and granite boulders where he found the precious gas and oil which Bill had sworn to bring to the ren-deavour. Taking a load out to the plane, Alan halted it up to Buzzard, who began siphoning into the wing tank.

With an anxious inquiry in his bloodshot eyes, Bill asked: "Hey, Alan, why can't I go along on this trick? I'd give a leg to be a w. o. l. now. Haskell can't do much worse to me than he intends to do as it is."

After all that Bill had done for them, Alan hadn't the heart to refuse him. He asked: "How about it—can we carry a third person?"

"Well, we maybe could. But I wouldn't like it. It'd cut down our gas load, and this is only a two-place plane."

"Then I'll not go," Bill agreed sturdily. "Don't want to be a drag. I'll sleep off my dry-jag here and then money in to Edmonton."

Alan went after two more drums. As he reached the plant with them, his ears caught a faint low drone barely audible far out upon En Traversa. He turned his head up on the cockpit edge, he turned his glasses north. Six miles out, the powerful scarlet-and-gold launch was heading straight toward them.

"Knock off on that!" he jabbed at Buzzard. "We've got to get gone. They'll ram us, or shoot at us from protection of the launch. You've got enough in the tank to take us to the Alooska. We'll stow these drums aboard, and what we can't take we'll leave here on this headland. Can get it later."

Under Buzzard's directions they worked frantically. When they were ready, when Bill clambered down into the canoe and held out his hand in good-bye, Alan was struck to the heart by the pleading unspoken prayer which Bill stoutly refused to word.

"Buzzard!" He jerked around to his partner. "Bill's got to go alone! D—d if I can leave him out in the cold! I simply can't do it."

"Then try to wedge him in with you. We'll carry him, if we have to tie him on!"

"Alan pulled him up. Bill managed to squeeze into the tiny one-place compartment, and by that act deserved Mount Pico."

With the big boat only a mile out, Buzzard tacked the plane and headed it parallel to the shore line. It seemed to Alan that the White Speedier, heavily laden with gas and oil and a third man, would never rise from the water. It taxed nearly a half-mile before it began smacking the waves. The police boat swerved right and diagonaled in to cut across its course. White puffs of smoke were bursting from a rifle in the prow, from a rifle in the hands of George Haskell.

But when the plane finally did take hold of the air, it left the boat behind in a twinkling. Roaring out of range, it swung away into the north-east, toward its goal on the Big Alooska.

CHAPTER X.

The Secret Of Many Waters

Two miles down river Buzzard throttled the motor, eased the stick forward and glided expertly down and down into that difficult narrow lane of evergreens.

Alan started to get out the canvas canoe to tow the plane to the landing, but Joyce, understanding, untied her father's sturdier craft, laid in an extra paddle, and came skidding out toward them.

As Alan clambered down upon a float and waited, he remembered his decision to tell Joyce what had happened within him since he saw her last, and to tell her of that inexorable circumstance which had led to his engagement to Elizabeth. Easy that decision then, but he wavered now. Did he dare tell her that? If it was useless, if she had put him out of her life, did he dare renew her the poignant memories and intimacies between them? Today he would find out how she regarded him; today she would surely give him some clear token.

Reaching out, he caught the prow of her canoe. Joyce rose and stepped up to him. In another instant he was clamping her hand.

"Joyce! Joyce! I was afraid for you—here alone, girl. I can't tell you how glad—when I saw you. . . And glad to be back here."

As their eyes met, as Alan felt her small hand warm in his, he was torn between fear. In that first moment of their meeting, when impressions stood out so sharp and clear, it seemed that all passion had gone out of Joyce's manner toward him. She greeted him warmly, she was friendly, even cordial, and getting part of her personal outfit, the four of them, with old Pence appointing himself guard over the machine, went up the path to the trading store.

Introducing her to Buzzard, he stepped down into the canoe, lapped the painter rope around a strut; and together he and she guided the plane "athwart current to the landing. After mooring it securely and getting part of her personal outfit, the four of them, with old Pence appointing himself guard over the machine, went up the path to the trading store.

Alan could fairly feel the dozen eager questions Joyce wanted to ask him: "Who was this new-found friend whom he called Buzzard? Where had they got this plane? How did they intend to use it against those bandits? But practical little soul as always, she asked no questions then. The three men, tired and hungry and desperately in need of rest, were her first consideration. Going back to the kitchen she heated them water to wash and shave, and set about getting a hot substantial meal.

Alan happened to notice that his picture, which, for two years, had stood on Joyce's dresser, was not there now. It halted him like a blow. Why had she taken it entirely? Was it some accident, entirely innocent? Or . . .

"Back in the kitchen, while Buzzard was outside washing away the grime and oil of five days' flight, he remembered the confetti fleeces and found it and brought it to Joyce."

"I thought of you, out in Edmonton," he said awkwardly, breaking the string. "I believed you might like this. It isn't much, but I was short of . . . It was pretty near broke."

As Joyce unfolded the ash-velvet and saw its exquisite beauty, an admiration leaped into her eyes. "Oh, it's beautiful! It's the loveliest I've ever seen anywhere."

Buzzard Kept Glancing at Her, Studying Her Intently.

But then, as she looked from the gift to the giver, something seemed to check her. With an effort she forced herself to say quietly, "It was kind of you, Alan, to think of me."

Alan turned away in bitter disappointment. "It was kind of you," he said. "How cold and distant they were sounded. She was talking to him across an abyss."

When Buzzard and he came back in, they sat down to their meal. As she passed them food and the three of them talked, Alan could not help noticing Buzzard's quick, adroit admiration of Joyce. Buzzard kept glancing at her, studying her intently, evidently astonished to find a pretty, well-educated girl like her living almost alone here in this far-northern wilderness.

Later, when Joyce had insisted on the getting a few more rest and had left them in her father's room, he remarked:

Words in English Language

Two Hundred Thousand in Use and Fifty Thousand Obsolete

It seems there are 250,000 words in the English language, approximately three times as many as in any other tongue, according to a survey in American Speech, issued by the Columbia University Press.

Totals recently advanced by Dr. Frank H. Vizetelly, dictionary editor, and Harold Wentworth, former associate editor of a dictionary, are challenged by Prof. Robert L. Ramsey of the University of Missouri, who conducted the study. Dr. Vizetelly's estimate was 1,000,000 words; Wentworth's was two to three million.

"After adding in all the obsolete and alien words, we reach a total of something like 250,000; and 250,000, it seems to me, is the only legitimate and authoritative total to cite as the number of words in the English language. Over 50,000 of these are obsolete," declared Prof. Ramsey.

Refusal Lucky For Woman

Old Bill Refused By Antique Dealer Worth Hundred Dollars

Needing money for the necessities of life, a woman brought some old Confederate bills to an antique dealer in Houston, Texas.

He offered her ten cents apiece for twelve of them, but declined to take the thirteen.

"He was afraid of it, it was so old," said the woman.

But the dealer took her to a bank where she received $100 in crisp bills. The $100 note was in United States currency and had laid away with the old Confederate bills for nearly half a century.

New Electric Device

Ivan Taylor, 16-year-old schoolboy, of Colorado Springs, Colo., is the inventor of an electrical apparatus with which he can kill grasshoppers eight feet away and roaches four feet distant by application of an invisible or black ray.

A zoo keeper says that ten years is the average life of a wolf. So all we need do now is hold out a little longer.

MINARD'S "KING OF PAIN" LINIMENT

The Youngest Nation

Germany in Its Present Shape Dates Only From 1870

John Hallett, writing in the London Fortnightly Review, says the modern Germany is the victim of a complex which, like other complexes, can be traced to its origin in the present, but of the immediate and even of the remote past. The fact that Germany is the youngest born of the great nations is deeply embedded in German national consciousness. Italy, whose national unity predates that of Germany by only a few years, has a quite different psychology. If she is self-conscious about her youth, she is also proud of it. She rather fancies herself in the role of infant terrible of the European family. She has the frank gaiety of the south and suffers from no repressions. In Germany the poison is reversed. There is no German festival of the reformation. Nobody wants to remember that two German people fought each other as recently as 1866, and that the German nation in its present shape dates only from 1870.

The German is secretly, perhaps subconsciously, ashamed of his youth. In his dealings with the world he likes to throw into relief those elements of German unity which existed for centuries before there was a German nation.

Possible To Prevent War

Human Lives Should Not Be the Price Of Political Mistakes

There is one issue on which all papers and all individuals, no matter what their particular interests may be, must make some decision. Because this issue—War or Peace—involved millions of lives.

It is possible to prevent war. If every individual who profoundly believes that no question is finally settled by killing or being killed, will hold to his belief and affirm it publicly and be guided in his actions only by that belief, war will be an impossibility.

War is made not by the majority of the inhabitants of a country but by the maladjustments of governments. But it is fought by those inhabitants. It is time they realized and asserted that their lives were above the price of political mistakes.

Some of the generations, ripe for slaughter, have taken this stand. They have discovered, if their elders have not, that wars are always lost and that there is something greater and more civilized than being a good loser.—The Twentieth Century.

Wet and Dry Years

Study Of Weather Records Over Period Of 48 Years

A study of the meteorological records for 48 years at Medicine Hat, which is the central point of the short grass plains, or so-called dry area, indicates that the driest year on record was 1886, and 1927 the wettest. Dry years occurred previous to 1900 and have happened periodically ever since. Information already obtained by the Dominion Range Experimental Station at Manayberries, Alberta, where investigations have been planned to study the effect of climatic changes from year to year, shows the absolute necessity of making provision for dry years by controlled grazing and the development of a permanent water supply.

Einstein Going To France

Accepts Chat Of Physics and Mathematics In University

Prof. Albert Einstein, the scientist, who at present is residing at Cog-Sur-Mer, in Belgium, has notified French friends that he will accept the chair of physics and mathematics in the University of France, it was revealed recently.

"It is with great gratitude that I accept the honor which France renders me," Dr. Einstein wrote friends. He is living in self-imposed exile from Germany during the present anti-Jewish regime there.

St. George's Hospital in London will celebrate its 100th anniversary this year.

Foreign Tourist Traffic

Fewer Automobile Tourists Come To Canada In 1932

A Dominion-wide summary covering foreign tourist traffic in 1932, compiled by the Department of National Revenue, shows that over 4,000,000 foreign automobiles were entered for touring purposes last year through Canada's frontier ports, 800,000 fewer than the previous year.

While totals from every province show decreases, several of the ports show substantial increases. The summary shows, also, a shrinkage of about 100,000 in the number of Canadian cars reported outwards for touring purposes.

The total number of foreign tourist automobiles reported inwards by provinces in 1932, together with the previous year, were: Ontario, 8,049, 586; Quebec, 4,213, 184; Quebec, 536, 144; decrease, 109,789; New Brunswick, 287,090, decrease, 12,978; British Columbia, 143,879, decrease, 25, 596; Manitoba, 43,904, decrease, 1, 004; Alberta, 21,575, decrease, 10,379; Saskatchewan, 20,736, decrease, 5,751; Nova Scotia, 4,161, decrease, 1,000; Prince Edward Island, nil, decrease, one.

Canadian automobiles exported for touring purposes in 1932 numbered 876,857, against 536,855 for the previous year.

Brandon Fair

Directors Of Manitoba Exhibition Have Completed Prize List

The directors of the Brandon Provincial Exhibition have completed the prize list for the 1933 exhibition and it has been referred to the federal department of agriculture for approval. In accordance with new regulations issued by the Dominion authorities. In line with the policy adopted some time ago, the department of agriculture will have to put its stamp of approval on all awards before any exhibition can secure the federal grant.

The grant this year for each class "A" fair in the western Canada circuit is $25,000. Two years ago the sum of $5,000 was donated annually, but economic conditions resulted in a fifty per cent. paring. After the prize list was well under way in 1932 the federal authorities announced the decreased amount of the grant, but the directors were able to revise the awards in time for the exhibition that year. The 1933 prize list is substantially the same as it was a year ago.

Proposed Sugar Refinery

American Sugar Beet Company May Operate

Erection of a 1,300-ton beet sugar refinery in Manitoba costing $1,500,000 will be started immediately if the federal government will grant a drawback of 50 per cent. of excise tax on all beet sugar production in Canada, J. M. Davidson, secretary of the Industrial Development Board of Manitoba, announced. The project would be financed and operated by the American Sugar Beet Company of Denver, Colo.

Seed Buyers' Protection

Farmers who buy seed from their neighbors should protect themselves by asking to be shown the grade certificate issued on the seed by the inspector of the Dominion Seed Branch. If the certificate is marked "Reject" the sale is illegal and the use of the seed full of dangerous possibilities. The Seeds Act of Canada was enacted to check the menace of dirty seed and it applies to everybody without exception who sells seed.

Schoaling Was Cheaper

Mexico razes old Belen prison to make a playground for school children, being impelled, possibly by an economy survey which disclosed that it cost $300 a year to keep a man in prison and only $100 a year to keep a boy in school.

The world's most heavily loaded sluicage gate is being built in New Zealand. When completed, the water pressure on its face will amount to more than 2,000 tons.

Picture Is Changed

Heavy Movement From Farms To Cities In Past Sixty Years

How great the movement toward the city has been in Canada in recent years is revealed by the Dominion census covering the period from Confederation in 1867 to the census of 1931.

At the time of the Dominion census in 1871 the population of Canada was 81.4 per cent. rural and 18.6 per cent. urban. According to the census of 1931 there were 4,804,728 people in rural Canada and 5,572,068 in urban centres. Expressed in percentages this means 48.3 rural and 51.7 urban.

In these sixty years the entire picture of Canadian life has changed. In 1871 there were 81 persons out of every hundred living in the country; while in 1931 there were nearly 54 out of every hundred in the cities and towns.

Even these figures, impressive though they are, do not disclose the whole story for the reason that persons living in small communities and unincorporated villages are recorded as rural dwellers. Actually, according to figures compiled by the Canadian Government Bureau of Statistics, only 31.7 of the whole population of Canada live on farms. There is, however, a noticeable return movement toward the farms now in progress.

Canadians automobiles exported for touring purposes in 1932 numbered 876,857, against 536,855 for the previous year.

Vitamin A Overdone

Scientists Declare Grown-Ups Can Forget About Them

This business of vitamins has been much overdone as far as the general public are concerned, a McGill scientist declared in commenting upon the news from Germany that a research worker there had been able to make synthetically vitamin "C."

Vitamin "C" is distributed rather widely in nature. Oranges provide a ready supply but European chemists claim that the synthetic product will be much more potent as it will be in a concentrated form.

"As far as grown-ups are concerned they can eat well-balanced meals and forget all about vitamins," the McGill scientist stated, adding that the only vitamin of established worth in treatment of the undernourished was vitamin "D," the sunlight vitamin used in the treatment of rickets in children.

A CHILDLIKE HEART

Have you the gift of a childlike heart? Then you are blessed indeed! In every gladness it plays its part. Of every joy it is seel!

For a childlike heart has such faith and courage, and never at hand. The pledge where the arc of the rainbow swings. The promise of sun-sweet land.

It beholds a beauty that grows not less. In the light of love's ageing face. And finds charms that, with passing years express New miracles of grace.

O, pray for the gift of a childlike heart

Which makes all things fair and true. For every blessing it can impart, Bringing heaven on earth to you.

Libraries Are a Necessity

Education Is an Endless Pursuit Of Knowledge Throughout Life

Rev. T. Bart Howard, president of Ontario Library Association, told the 83rd annual conference at Toronto, that free libraries have become a necessity of civilization. "Libraries are no longer thought of as a place to find second-rate reading," he said. "They are a source of information. Education does not end with university but is an endless pursuit throughout life."

Sculptor Takes Photographs

W. F. Englemann, sculptor in Los Angeles, Cal., uses an apparatus which photographs his subjects instantaneously from every possible angle, thus getting "form and expression" as the basis for his work.

SPEED!

Time counts when you're in pain! Aspirin on Aspirin, not only for its fast relief but for its speed.

Aspirin tablets dissolve at once. They are many minutes faster than remedies that are offered in their stead.

If you saw Aspirin made, you would know why it has such uniform, dependable action. If you have ever timed it, you know that it dissolves and goes to work before a slower tablet has any effect.

Stick to Aspirin. You know what you are taking. You know it is harmless; nothing in these tablets to depress the heart. You know you will get results. For headaches, colds, neuralgia, rheumatism, the safe and certain relief is—Aspirin.
